Introduction

Corporate communication is chaotic and dispersed, leading to a loss of essential information. FalaQui aims to give companies complete control over their communication, storing all messages on their servers to create data lakes for continuous learning and improved competitiveness.

Our goal is to give companies complete control over their corporate communication by making FalaQui the primary chat platform for multiple purposes, uses, and services. All messages are stored on your own servers, creating data lakes that ensure the preservation of information and promote continuous learning.

Benefits

Unlike competitors, FalaQui aligns with corporate goals with a familiar layout, ensuring reliable infrastructure for secure and efficient communication. It offers features like Whitelabel, online and offline chat, system integration, service mini-apps, and intelligent assistants

- Whitelabel Platform
- Online and Offline Chat
- System Integration
- Mini-Apps Services
- Corporate-Grade Platform
- Intelligent Assistants

Research - Analysis

According to McKinsey, the fragmentation of corporate communication has led to significant information loss. Over the past decade, this issue has worsened with the increased use of generic chat apps and social media.

Another concern, according to a December 2023 study by SafeGuard Cyber, is that the fragmented use of these communication platforms significantly increases the risk of sensitive data leaks, with 66% of threat indicators associated with such vulnerabilities.

To address these challenges, FalaQui emerges as the ideal solution by centralizing corporate communication and ensuring that essential information is preserved and effectively utilized. This approach enhances companies' competitiveness and decision-making capabilities.

Advantage

In the corporate environment, where communication is crucial, FalaQui provides the ultimate solution. Our platform centralizes and optimizes communication, eliminating information fragmentation and turning challenges into opportunities for businesses, both internally and externally.
